Bank deposits showed a gain of $2,756,877.66 in 1950 in Adams county over the preceding year, according to the year-end statements published recently by the 14 banking institutions in the county.

Total bank deposits in the 14 county banks reached a new all-time high during 1950 of $35,878,000.27, compared with total deposits of $33,121,226.61 in 1949. The latter year, in turn, showed a large increase over 1948.

Bank deposits came close to reaching the 35-million mark in 1947, after a series of years in which the totals had climbed steadily. Then came a slump in deposits in 1948, partially made up the 1949 totals.

All but three of the county banks showed increased deposits in 1950.

BUSHMAN ASKS FARMERS FEED STARVING DEER

Game Protector Leo Bushman today urged cooperation of farmers and individuals throughout the county in an effort to save the county's deer.

"This is the most difficult kind of weather for a deer to live through," Bushman said. "Because of the thick frozen crust on the snow the deer find it almost impossible to walk, as their small sharp feet cannot support them."

"In addition the deer, as well as other game life, are finding it very difficult to obtain food, most of which has been buried by the snowfall."

The game protector particularly urged farmers and other dog owners to keep their animals under control to prevent them from chasing the deer.

Dogs Chase Deer

Dogs, with soft padded paws, find it easy to run about on the icy crust, while the deer slip and fall and are driven into a panic when chased.

He described the condition of two deer that were chased into the Beard farm along the Fairfield road Friday by several dogs. In an attempt to save the animals, which were cut and bruised and frightened from falling on the snow, and weakened by lack of food, they were placed in the Beard barn.

Bushman said he would have baited available at his home, 264 Baltimore street, here for persons who wish to take it to the deer. The cooperation of a large number of people is necessary to help the deer survive the present weather conditions, the game protector noted.

After a reprimand from Magistrate Jacob E. Baker, the couple received a suspended sentence and a fine of $5 and costs.

FRUIT GROWERS MEETING TODAY AT BIGLERVILLE

Approximately 200 Adams county fruit growers gathered at Biglerville today for the annual all-day meeting of the Adams County Fruit Growers association.

The session began this morning at the Biglerville auditorium and moved at 12:30 o'clock to the C. H. Musselman company cafeteria where the session is continuing following lunch.

Discussion leaders for the meeting today include J. O. Pepper, extension entomologist; Dr. R. S. Kirby, extension plant pathologist; J. U. Ruef, extension pomologist; Dr. Kenneth Hood, extension agricultural economist, and Truman B. Thompson, director of the farm placement service.

Spray Program Big Topic

Big topic of the day's session is the annual spray program for the county's fruit trees. Next on the list was discussion of what will happen in the future. With war clouds hovering the fruit growers called in Doctor Hood to give them some idea of what they can expect in the way of economy of the future and Thompson to tell them what may happen to the labor supply during the coming year.

With a force of from 4,000 to 5,000 needed annually to harvest the crops and process them, the fruit growers at their meeting today expressed more than a little anxiety about the forthcoming season in which they will have to invest heavily in spray materials.

Extension specialists were recommended for apples a spray containing nearly everything that was recommended last year, and the general suggestion for this year is a combined spray calling for use of a number of materials for which separate spray schedules were issued last year.

The extension specialists reported that the organic mercury apple spray materials, Tag Fungicide No. 331, Puratized apple spray and Puratized agricultural spray are promising as scab fungicides. They

Two Gettysburg firemen who went to East Berlin Friday night to demonstrate the Gettysburg Fire company's short wave radio ended up at a barn fire seven and a half miles north of East Berlin, near Kralltown, in York county.

Fire, of undetermined origin, discovered at 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon completely destroyed a large barn on a farm owned by Frank Krall, and tenanted by his son, Charles Krall, with a loss estimated at $25,000.

The loss included an automobile, a large quantity of hay and feed, and all farm equipment stored in the building.

Hose Lines Freeze

High winds carried sparks and burning hay onto the roof of the nearby farmhouse, and firemen from Dillsburg, Franklintown, Dover and East Berlin were kept busy extinguishing the small fires thus set. The side of the farmhouse was also scorched.

Firemen were further hampered by the near zero temperatures. Hose lines froze, they said.

The radio demonstration had been planned because doubts had been raised at a meeting Thursday night in the engine house here that the local fire company's short wave radio could be heard in and near East Berlin. The matter was brought up during a discussion of a county-

SUV PLAN FOR LINCOLN DAY

Plans for the annual Lincoln Day program of the Sons of Union Veterans were outlined Friday evening at a meeting of the local camp held at the GAR post rooms on East Middle street.

Dr. Joseph H. Riley, chairman of the committee in charge, said that the program will be held in the form of a dinner or buffet supper at the post rooms at 6:30 o'clock February 12, Lincoln's birthday. Arrangements are being made to have a speaker, recitation of Lincoln's Gettysburg address and other features on the program, Riley said.

Other members of the committee include T. J. Winebrenner, Paul Snyder, Arthur Warman and Commander Rev. Willis R. Doyle.

Doctor Riley and Commander Doyle were named to represent the camp on the Adams County Home Auxiliary. Jesse E. Snyder and T. J. Winebrenner praised the County Home Auxiliary "as an organization long needed" in discussion on the motion that the camp join the auxiliary. Snyder, who served many years ago as an attendant at the home, noted, "the county can provide the warmth, food and shelter for the guests there. But that is all the county can provide. The auxiliary is needed to give the old folks at the county home the little necessities, friendship and companionship that makes life worthwhile."

Resolutions of sympathy and regret in the death of members Charles L. Criswell and J. Price Oyler were voted by the SUV.

Johnson, making a personal inspection tour on the tenth day of the allied limited offensive, said he saw "Chinese bodies all over the place."

GHS Tops Carlisle 38-35 To Snap Streak; Jayvees Win

Gettysburg high school's cagers snapped a six-game losing streak and won its opening game of the second half in the South Penn league by nailing out Carlisle high here Friday evening 38-35.

A pair of free tosses by Dave Swope with less than 2 minutes remaining broke a 35-35 deadlock with Jim Skinner adding another with 45 seconds remaining to ice the game.

Coach George Forney's outfit led by a substantial margin after the first 2 periods but found its 26-16 half time margin erased by the scrappy Carlisle team who finally caught up at 35-35.

Stull opened the game with a goal for Carlisle and the Warriors moved ahead on a stab by McCormick, a foul by the same lad and a one-hander by Harriel. Goals by Stull and McCoy sent Carlisle in front. Swope put Gettysburg back in front with a goal and Harriel netted a free throw. Calaman tied the count at 8-8 on a stab and then three successive goals by Harriel gave the Warriors a 14-8 advantage at the quarter.

Aided By Fouls
The Warriors tabbed eight of 10 free throws in the second period to hike their lead to 26-16 at half time. Harriel netted the only local goal of the period while Stull caged two for the visitors and Keck and McCoy one each.

Carlisle began to whittle away at the Gettysburg margin in the third frame and the Forney-men were blanked from the field. However, four of five fouls were converted to enable the locals to lead 30-28 going into the final frame. McCoy, Stull and Washington sparked the Carlisle rally in the quarter which was good for 12 tallies.

McCoy opened the last period with a foul and McCormick netted a close shot and Ford a foul. Another goal by McCormick sent the Warriors ahead 35-29. Goals by Keck, McCoy and again Keck in that order knotted the count with two minutes remaining. Then Swope came through with his conversions with Skinner adding another.

Carlisle outshot Gettysburg from the field 15 to 10 but the locals' fine foul tossing, 18 out of 24, turned the trick. All of the Warriors put up improved games.

Scrubs Win 35-33
The Gettysburg high reserves also snapped back into the win column by nailing out the Carlisle jayvees 35-33. Hixon and John Carter led the scoring for Ross Sachs' clan.

On Tuesday the Warriors will try to keep on the winning side of the ledger when Shippensburg will be met on the latter's court.

The Adams County Scholastic league again tightened up as a result of Friday's games.

York Springs walloped the league-leading New Oxford team 63-44 at York Springs to step back into the picture. Coach Kemper's lads led the whole way with G. Guise, Lott and Wishard setting the scoring pace.

Bud Ecker's Boiling Springs outfit hit handed Littlestown its eighth straight loop reverse at Littlestown 48-37. At half time the Bubbiers were in front 25-18. Scoring for both teams was evenly distributed.

Biglerville ran into unexpected opposition but rallied in the last half to edge Newville at Biglerville 34-32. Newville held a 17-12 lead at the half. Ed Spicer and Ronnie Rice spearheaded the Biglerville offense.

JR. HI QUINT TOPS CARLISLE

A big first half lead enabled the Gettysburg junior high dribblers to win their sixth game in eight starts Friday evening when they defeated Carlisle on the latter's floor 38-31. At the half the locals led 23-10.

Coach Rogers Herr's team played well in all departments during the first two periods with Rohrbach and Ketterman especially effective on the offense.

The reserves played listlessly in dropping the preliminary game 33-13. Carlisle took a 12-2 lead in the opening stanza and was never threatened.

On Tuesday Gettysburg engages Hanover here in a "must" game. A victory over Hanover and another over Waynesboro here on February 16 will create a tie for the lead in the Southern Division of the Junior High circuit which would probably result in a playoff between Gettysburg and Hanover.

TEN YEARS AGO

Wicks-Menges: Miss Francis I. Menges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Menges, 450 West Middle street, and Frank Wicks, son of Mrs. Nannie Wicks, of Delta, were married on Friday evening at 9:30 o'clock in the Presbyterian parsonage at Bel Air, Maryland, by the Rev. Mr. Schweitzer.Aughinbaugh-Baker: Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Sidney G. Aughinbaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clement Aughinbaugh, Gettysburg R. 3, to Garland W. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Baker, Gettysburg R. 1. The marriage was performed by the Rev. O. G. Ogg, at Bel Air, Maryland, Sunday.Joe Louis Beats Burman (By GAYLE TALBOT) New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Three terrific blows to the body left Red Burman draped over the bottom rope, gasping for breath and helpless to move, but before he went out last night the Baltimore battler put up a fight that thrilled the crowd and won a genuine compliment from champion Joe Louis.

"He's the only fighter besides Galt who tried to take my title away from me," volunteered the big negro. "He really came after me. I had to hit him the hardest I ever hit a man."

The big crowd in Madison Square Garden saw Burman light into Louis like he had never heard of him, and continue to fight with everything he had until a final sickening right under the heart sent him down in 2:49 of the fifth round.

Louis will rest only about a week before resuming training for his next bout with Gus Dorazio in Philadelphia February 17.

Library of Congress Gets Edward McPherson Papers: The remainder of the collection of valuable papers of the late Edward McPherson, Esq., of Gettysburg, grandfather of Donald P. McPherson, Jr., Esq., were turned over to Dr. Thomas P. Martin, of the Library of Congress, Washington, Wednesday morning.

Dr. Martin came to Gettysburg to receive the papers from Mr. McPherson. Some years ago a large portion of the McPherson papers was turned over to the Library of Congress.

The late Edward McPherson studied law under Thaddeus Stevens in Gettysburg and later became editor of several newspapers, including the Star and Sentinel, Gettysburg. He was a member of Congress for four years, deputy commissioner of Internal Revenue, Washington; clerk of the U. S. House of Representatives for sixteen years; chief of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, U. S. Treasury Department, and he served as aide on Major General McCall's staff in 1861 and on Major General J. F. Reynolds's staff in 1862. He also was the author of several political pamphlets and many important pamphlets and addresses.

Earl Rohrbach on Saturday Opened Lincoln Logs Hotel: Mr. Rohrbach raised the building nine feet and also re-decorated it. There are two dining rooms and a taproom in the ten room building. The rustic dance floor is used for dancing.Mauss-Wiseman: Harold Jacob Mauss, Gettysburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Mauss, Ardenstville, and Evelyn Grace Wiseman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Wiseman, Gettysburg, were united in marriage at 9 o'clock Wednesday evening in the parsonage of the Gettysburg United Brethren church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. N. B. S. Thomas.Dr. Coleman Takes over Park Saturday: Just returned from a nine day conference of all National Park Service officials which ended Wednesday at Washington, Dr. J. Walter Coleman officially took over his duties as new superintendent of the Gettysburg Park on Saturday, succeeding James R. GARDEN OF THE MIND

How like a garden is this mind of ours! A garden is something that is greatly loved by the ones who create it, for it contains so much of themselves. There are varieties, and there are always surprises, and always beauty.

On my way to my summer island retreat in Nova Scotia, before its creator died, I always visited on his wonderful garden. You seemed to know so much about the man when you had viewed his garden, heard his talk about it, and absorbed his enthusiasm. It came over you that here was a man who had not only planted seeds, set out plants, and created a miniature heavenly scene, but who had also planted love—and all about you it bloomed in colorful magic!

I like to think of the mind as a garden, for its processes of creation are so similar to those that bring about the outdoor garden. How often many of us have sat with a friend and noted his talk of those things which have enriched and beautified his mind. Talk on art, music, books, travel, birds, flowers—and oh so many other things. Distributed into every nook and corner of the mind are memories and how wonderful it is to reach for them, and exhibit their content to others.

All flower shops are fascinating because of their natural beauty. From them always go some message of cheer and love. I react to a book shop in the same way. I can almost feel the touch of thoughts from the shelves and tables all about, rich in the product of minds. It is a joy just to walk around in such a place. It's so much like a garden!

Gardens have to be cultivated, worked in, watered, and watched. It's the same with this mind of ours if we would make it attractive and inviting to all manner of peoples. The mind needs a rich soil. It needs watering and watching. It needs love to furnish it gloriously with the fine examples of thought that have been made so free to us all from the minds of all time. Any mind can be so cultivated as to attract to its lovers of its kind.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST
THE GRUMBLERSWhen friends, at evening, settle downTo talk of politics and taxes,
On every face there is a frown.
No nervous system tense
relaxes.Yet, all have homes with love aglow
And all have had good food for dinner.And sleep will follow cards and show—
No choice twist loser and the winner.We'll grumble at the government,
Its cost forever growing greater.And precious minutes will be spent

Denouncing many a legislator.

Yet, all in raiment warm are dressed,
And all have cars, with gas a tank full.And all by God above are blest With much for which we should be thankful.The world is in a sorry state
And glumly we shall talk about it.There now is need for leaders greatAnd they may rise, but we shall doubt it.Yet, all of us have health to boast
And funds to pay the bills presented.'Tis strange that much that matters most
Should leave us all so discontented.

Riding with Russell

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.
BY FREDERICK C. RUSSELL
Member S. & E.With new cars driving literally has become a matter of touch and go.

Think Nothing Of It

Few motorists realize it, but a large percentage of things that seem to be happening to their cars really are faults of other cars which are near enough to be heard. I had this brought home to me quite forcibly the other night when traveling some strange roads and being a little more alert than usual. Suddenly at one point of the trip the left front tire started to squeal on curves. I would have stopped to check had it not been for the fact that the car right behind me turned off into another road after five minutes of squealing. I had been hearing one of its tires.

On an upgrade I became quite alarmed when a definite growl developed, but after passing an old car ahead everything was serene again. Later I caught a bad squealing noise which really had me guessing until I looked into the rear-view mirror and found that I was being trailed by a car that is notorious for a noisy fan belt. The snow tires of other cars can be heard at quite a distance, and are likely to cause alarm. Then there is the smell of other cars' brakes. It is always well to remember that it is quite unlikely that you could smell your own burning brakes.

For Future Reference

Are you troubled by poor riding? Of course, there are plenty of reasons for this other than slightly sub-par ignition, but if you have gone through the mill and are a bit puzzled as to why the motor doesn't behave itself, I'd like to suggest the possibilities in a new and improved ignition coil. This permits a wider spark plug gap—usually about .005 inch.

One of the things to check over if the cooling system seems to be inclined to run hot these winter days is the lower water hose from the radiator to the engine. It is customary to use a coil spring inside this hose so that it cannot collapse or suck inward if the radiator is partially clogged or if the water pump is a bit too energetic. This coil may rust and collapse, however. When this happens there is not merely loss of support for the hose itself but the broken pieces of coil may bunch up and retard water circulation. In cases where owners use rust inhibitor religiously these springs seem to have long life.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"One thing I learned years ago is to re-check everything I do when working on a customer's car. Somehow I think it is good policy for the car owner himself, even if he's just polishing the car or doing some simple job. On the second check you really get results because you see where you have slipped up the first time. This is particularly important when checking ignition because you sure can make some bad mistakes otherwise."

"I saw one fellow throw away a good spark plug and mess up the job by installing a new one of the wrong heat type when the trouble was merely with the particular ignition cable. It had become loose at the distributor head. I didn't have time to follow this but believe he had a repetition of the trouble because he didn't re-check the wire after he put it back snugly into the distributor cap again. He failed to find out what caused the wire to become so loose in the first place."

That Miss On Hills

There are a lot of reasons why an engine will miss when in process of hill climbing, but one that usually receives little or no consideration is low compression in one or two cylinders. This is like a limping horse.

However, if compression proves to be sufficient, and reasonably even in all cylinders, better check into some of the old standbys such as insufficient valve tappet clearance, too far advanced ignition timing, incorrect carburetor adjustment or spark plugs of the wrong heat type.

We've been all through this before but if Junior tore up the Russell scrapbook here are a few things to check into if the spark plugs are being inspected:

If the insulator for the center point looks blistered the plug is too hot for the engine. Heavy black carbon deposits hint of an overrich mixture, bad rings or anything that makes the engine run inefficiently. The plugs too may be too cool for the engine. If the plugs are coated with oil, suspect poor rings or over-choking. Should the center electrode look worn away there's overheating or incorrect ignition timing.

These Puzzling Cars

A friend tells me that the other day when cranking the motor the car moved forward a foot or so. Immediately he assumed that the clutch was dragging and that because the car was in low gear at the time he was in for trouble. But when he tried re-starting several times later during the day there was never any movement of the car. Looking back he guessed that the car probably rolled into the small hole in the road just as he released the parking brake and cranked.

Does one cell of the car's battery need water more often than the others? If so, take hydrometer readings often in order to be sure that the difference doesn't indicate the beginning of an internal short circuit. Such trouble can stem from using mineral laden water.

They Favor Cheesecloth

One of the makers of paste wax for automobiles is fully converted to the idea that cheesecloth is best for waxing. That is because cheesecloth is soft, bulky and durable. It is also easy to fold into a pad and to handle. It washes easily. Second best, in my opinion, is undershirting. Many a motorist never knows that the reason he did such a poor job of polishing and waxing the car is because he did not have the right kind of cloths—and enough of them.

The starter drive should not rust, but if it does the chances are that there is a water leakage from the head gasket or a connection to the car heater at the rear of the motor. It will save tire treads to slow down before entering a curve, rather than to get into the turn and then try to decelerate.

That old trick of shorting out a spark plug in order to test for the cause of a motor skip has to be revised a bit for eight cylinder engines.

THAW SOME OF WAGE-SALARY FREEZE RULES

Washington, Feb. 3 (AP)—The government's wage-salary freeze thawed out enough today to permit "merit" and "length-of-service" pay increases for millions of workers.

Relaxation of the rigid ceilings imposed January 25 on all wages and salaries was announced last night by the Wage Stabilization board (WSB).

Officials emphasized, however, that the action was not a go-ahead for across-the-board wage or salary hikes. A member of the nine-man board said it was designed entirely to permit what he called "normal day-to-day pay adjustments."

In addition to sanctioning "merit" and "length-of-service" increases, the thaw also gave overall approval for employers to boost wages of workers promoted from one job to another.

It also approved so-called "differential" or "premium" payments to employees who are transferred from one position to another where, for instance, night work or specialized tasks call for higher pay.

The wage board acted after it became evident that the general wage freeze had thrown a serious crimp into the labor and production policies of many industries including those in vital defense work.

There were also these other developments in the field of economic controls: The office of price stabilization (OPS) lifted retail coal ceilings to allow sellers to pass on to consumers the cost of an earlier price increase allowed producers, the increase amounting to as much as 90 cents a ton for soft coal and up to 25 cents for hard (anthracite) coal, and the National Production Authority (NPA) was putting finishing touches on a new order expected to restrict use of aluminum in some 300 items including ash trays, ornamental dishes and tumblers, novelties and perhaps window frames and venetian blinds.
